What an exciting event in 1996 it was, when Notre Dame and Navy faced off in Dublin, Ireland

The Notre Dame-Navy have played annually since 1927, making it one of the longest continual face-off events in college football. Famed rivalries do not come any better than this! In 2012 this scheduled event of the season will be held at the new architecturally delightful Aviva Stadium! When Notre Dame and Navy play in Dublin, Ireland, Sep 1, 2012, they will do so in this brand new state-of-the-art stadium. Aviva Stadium was built on the grounds of the Lansdowne Road Stadium and is the home to the Irish Rugby Union team and the Irish National Soccer Team. Aviva Stadium is a magnificent example of flowing and graceful and beautiful lines, giving detailed attention not only to the aesthetics but to fan comfort, that few stadiums anywhere in the world have achieved, as in Aviva Stadium. Your travel to Ireland is twofold, to attend the Notre Dame Navy game and to enjoy the beauty of Ireland for an unforgettable experience, come join us!

The Notre Dame vs. Navy game is scheduled for September 1, 2012. Early reservations are advised in order to protect against exchange rates and to be assured of admission.
